EARTH FEST CHALLENGE

CHALLENGE BRIEF

You work as part of an events management company who have been approached by a local farmer. She is asking for your help to organise a festival in one large, unused field. You are being given complete creative control over the festival, the farmer only has one request – that there is a green/eco-friendly initiative or aspect included.

You must develop an idea for the festival that will generate some extra income for the farmer during what has been a particularly bad year for profit. The festival could also potentially bring in more new customers for the farmer.

The festival planning that you do must involve decision-making and ideas on:

- The theme of the festival
- Your green/eco-friendly initiative
- The festival branding, including a logo
- Schedule for the day/days (including timings)
- How you will market the festival to your audience to ensure you sell as many tickets as possible, generating some much-needed profit for the farmer, along with a potential new customer base.

CONSIDER

- The Layout of the field – where will you place attractions, activities, events, facilities?
- How much will tickets cost?
- Who is your target market? How will your festival appeal to them? How will you market this event? (Could your eco-friendly initiative attract attendees?)
- How will you pitch your festival idea to the farmer at the end of this process – why should they pick your festival to run on the spare land?

You're tasked with generating these ideas and preparing them for presentation to the farmer who will then decide if they want to offer you the contract to run the event.

SUBMISSION

The deadline for entries is Friday 29th May at noon.
Email your visual pitch to challenge@yes.org.uk.

Please include the following details with your entry:

- Full name
- Year group
- School
- Local Authority

Remember to watch out on Twitter for the winner announcement!

ADDITIONAL INFO

Refer to See Taglines & Trademarks for further information on branding and see our Visual Pitch Guidelines.

Task 1 – Identify

Look at the Challenge Brief, think about the problem and the main aims. Think about your own interests and strengths—does this challenge give you any ideas or play to your strengths?

What is the problem? What is needed/wanted and by whom?

Who am I? What do I care about? What skills do I have?

Task 2 – Explore

In this task, you will look at your current level of knowledge of the topic, which will help you to focus on what research is required in order to learn more. Have you ever been to a festival? Maybe you could search online for some ideas or ask someone who has. Think about who/what can help you. Appendix i contains some useful links.

What kind of festivals are already out there? How much do they charge to attend? What kind of activities do they have? Do they have eco-initiatives? How will yours be different?

What do I know already?	What do I need to know?	Who/What can help me?

What festivals are out there already? Who is their target market?	What kind of activities do you find at festivals?	What environmental issues are there? How can you tackle this?

Task 3 - Generate

You might want to link up online with others to generate ideas that can help you to find a solution. Start off with lots of ideas—do not necessarily think about the practical aspects at the early stages. Maybe you would like to mind map your ideas or just make notes.

What ideas could you include in your festival? What would attract customers? Do you have anything unique to offer?

Task 4 - Execute

SKILLS

Usually, this would also be the stage to think about each team member's individual skills and the roles required to put your idea into practice. You would then assign roles based on these. You may be able to organise this online with your teammates. If you are working alone, try to think of the roles required and the skills associated with each. Where do your strengths lie? Would you be better at one role than another? Perhaps you would be suited to more than one role.

Skills Development Scotland have produced a Skills Explorer Tool which you can access through their site My World Of Work. This might help you to identify your current skill set.

Make note of your skills/qualities/talents that could be useful to you in this challenge

CAREER FOCUS

Here are just some of the roles involved in running events:

Events Manager – Responsible for organising, planning and running promotional, business and social events. Can be employed or often work on a freelance basis. They work with clients to discuss their needs, budgets and timescales. They come up with original ideas for events and negotiate prices for venues and services. Must be organised and good at planning.

Production Manager – Produces the show by organising and overseeing all of the different aspects and staff. They make sure lights, sound, graphics and acts run in order and on time. Must be organised and a good communicator.

Set Designer - Designs how the set looks, how things are laid out on stage, what backdrops/props etc. are needed. Must be creative with artistic flair. Often works with the Lighting Designer.

Lighting Designer - Designs the lights for the set and the audience. Works with lights and software to program how the lights will work during a performance. Must be creative and possess good IT skills. Often works with the Set Designer.

Technical Engineers (Sound, Lighting, Graphics) – Operate the sound/lights/graphics during a performance. Must follow the instructions from the Production Manager quickly and be able to calmly fix problems that arise.

Stage Builders – Interpret plans and drawings to build the stage as planned by the designers. Must be strong (staging is heavy!) and be able to read plans as well as being health and safety conscious.

Make notes on jobs roles and associated skills

EVENT PLAN & MARKETING

This is the time to develop your chosen idea into an event plan and think of how you will promote it to potential customers. You will then pitch this. Think about the realities of putting an idea into practice –the eco-friendly aspect, what your target market care about, what form your marketing campaign will take?

Think about how you would reach your target market: through social media, billboards, tv etc. How will you brand your campaign? Will you have a trademark and tagline? What successful/unusual advertising have you seen/been inspired by? See Taglines & Trademarks presentation for further info. Have a look at Appendix i for ideas.

Here you should think about the timeline of your festival. How long will it last? One day? Over a weekend? Schedule in gate opening times, acts, curfews etc.

Use this space to sketch the layout of your festival field. What do you need and where should it be?

Make notes/sketches on your marketing campaign

Task 5 – Present

This is time to prepare your pitch for the farmer so that they will choose you to host the festival on their land. Keep in mind the purpose of your pitch and what you were asked to focus on. Your pitch should contain details of the following:

PITCH
Festival details (timings, acts/services)
Research	Marketing Campaign
Target Market	Skills Learned	Lessons Learned

Task 6 - Reflect

Measure your success! Carefully think about the following questions:

What went well?

What would you do differently next time?

What skills have you developed?

What have you learned about yourself and how will this help you in the future?

Glossary of Terms

Advertising Calling the public's attention to a product/service especially by announcements in the press, through social media, on posters/billboards etc.

Logo A way for businesses to help people identify their products and tell them apart from others. Usually an image but can be a name, symbol or even a smell!

Marketing Campaign A marketing campaign is an approach taken to promote goods or services through different types of media, eg. tv adverts, print, online platforms. They can be designed for different aims eg. to raise awareness, to increase sales, to reduce the impact of negative news etc.

Marketing Strategy A comprehensive plan of the marketing goals based on market research.

Pitch A presentation of an idea, covering all of the critical aspects, with a view to securing (financial) support.

Slogan Memorable phrase or motto that accompanies a logo and appeals to customers.

Tagline Same as slogan.

Target Market A particular segment of the market (potential customers) at which a marketing campaign is focussed (this could be based on age, sex, demographics etc.)

Trademark Same as logo.

Appendix i – Further Information

For inspiration, you could research some festivals which already exist. You might see some aspects of a festival that you had not thought about.

Just be careful not to copy these ideas, make sure your festival is unique – that’s the secret to attracting customers!

These are just some of the festivals which take place in Scotland, you may know of some local ones too. You can take inspiration from galas, events and concerts you have been to.

Due to the global pandemic, these festivals have all been cancelled or postponed for this year. You may have to look at past events for further details.

The inclusion of these websites does not imply any endorsement of these festivals, acts, services, websites or organisations; it remains the responsibility of teachers/parents to ensure students use appropriate websites they verify as being safe and appropriate for student use.
